LESSON 01: That history deals with past human activities - Discover

Goal: Explain that history deals with past human activities.

Learn it

History is the study of past human activities. We ask questions, examine evidence and compare accounts before drawing conclusions.

Useful material: A family photograph, a labelled object or a short eyewitness account.

Do it in three steps

1. Observe a family photograph, a labelled object or a short eyewitness account.

2. Ask a question about: Explain that history deals with past human activities.

3. Ask who created the source, when it was made and what it can tell us.

Safety / respect: Handle historical artefacts carefully; respect different communities and distinguish facts from guesses.

Try this: Ask who created the source, when it was made and what it can tell us.

Show your learning: a question-and-evidence chart. Compare two sources; say how you know which details are reliable.

LESSON 01: Play + Challenge

Circle one answer for each question. Play = 1–5; Challenge = 6–15.

1. [Play] That history deals with past human activities - Discover: What is this lesson mainly about?

A. Discuss an unrelated modern topic without evidence

B. Explain that history deals with past human activities.

C. Ignore historical sources and decide from a guess

D. Treat every account as equally reliable without checking

2. [Play] That history deals with past human activities - Discover: What useful learning material or support is listed?

A. an unrelated fictional story presented as a historical record

B. only unsupported rumours without checking

C. guesses written without any source

D. A family photograph, a labelled object or a short eyewitness account.

3. [Play] That history deals with past human activities - Discover: Which action should come first?

A. Ignore the main task and do something unrelated.

B. Finish before looking at the instructions.

C. Skip all practice and guess the result.

D. Observe a family photograph, a labelled object or a short eyewitness account.

6. [Challenge] That history deals with past human activities - Discover: Which action comes after the opening step?

A. Change to an unrelated lesson immediately

B. Ask a question about: Explain that history deals with past human activities.

C. Skip to marking before learning

D. Only watch others without trying

7. [Challenge] That history deals with past human activities - Discover: Which practice completes the three lesson stages?

A. Stop after reading the title

B. Ask who created the source, when it was made and what it can tell us.

C. Give a guess without trying the activity

D. Leave the task unfinished without explaining

8. [Challenge] That history deals with past human activities - Discover: What counts as good evidence of learning here?

A. a random answer with no supporting detail

B. an unrelated example that does not test the skill

C. an opinion without observation or practice

D. a question-and-evidence chart

9. [Challenge] That history deals with past human activities - Discover: Which safety or respect rule fits this lesson?

A. Ignore the teacher’s safety instructions.

B. Do the activity without considering other people.

C. Take unnecessary risks to finish first.

D. Handle historical artefacts carefully; respect different communities and distinguish facts from guesses.

10. [Challenge] That history deals with past human activities - Discover: Which classroom activity helps apply the lesson?

A. Avoid the stated task and its materials

B. Copy another learner’s response without trying

C. Complete a different lesson instead

D. Ask who created the source, when it was made and what it can tell us.

11. [Challenge] That history deals with past human activities - Discover: Which explanation best supports this lesson?

A. The lesson has no connection to life or skills

B. History is the study of past human activities. We ask questions, examine evidence and compare accounts before drawing conclusions.

C. The topic can be completed without observing or practising

D. Learning means only guessing and never checking

12. [Challenge] That history deals with past human activities - Discover: What should a partner help you check?

A. Whether you can avoid answering questions

B. Whether your work demonstrates a question-and-evidence chart.

C. Whether you can finish without showing your work

D. Whether you can ignore the agreed task

13. [Challenge] That history deals with past human activities - Discover: Which follow-up deepens the learning?

A. Stop immediately without reflection

B. Make up results instead of practising

C. Compare two sources; say how you know which details are reliable.

D. Repeat the same error without checking feedback

14. [Challenge] That history deals with past human activities - Discover: How should a learner improve after feedback?

A. Skip a difficult part without asking for help

B. Change answers randomly without a reason

C. Ignore all comments and leave the task incomplete

D. Revisit the steps and strengthen a question-and-evidence chart.

15. [Challenge] That history deals with past human activities - Discover: Which choice would show responsible use of today’s skill?

A. Avoid explaining how the skill could be used

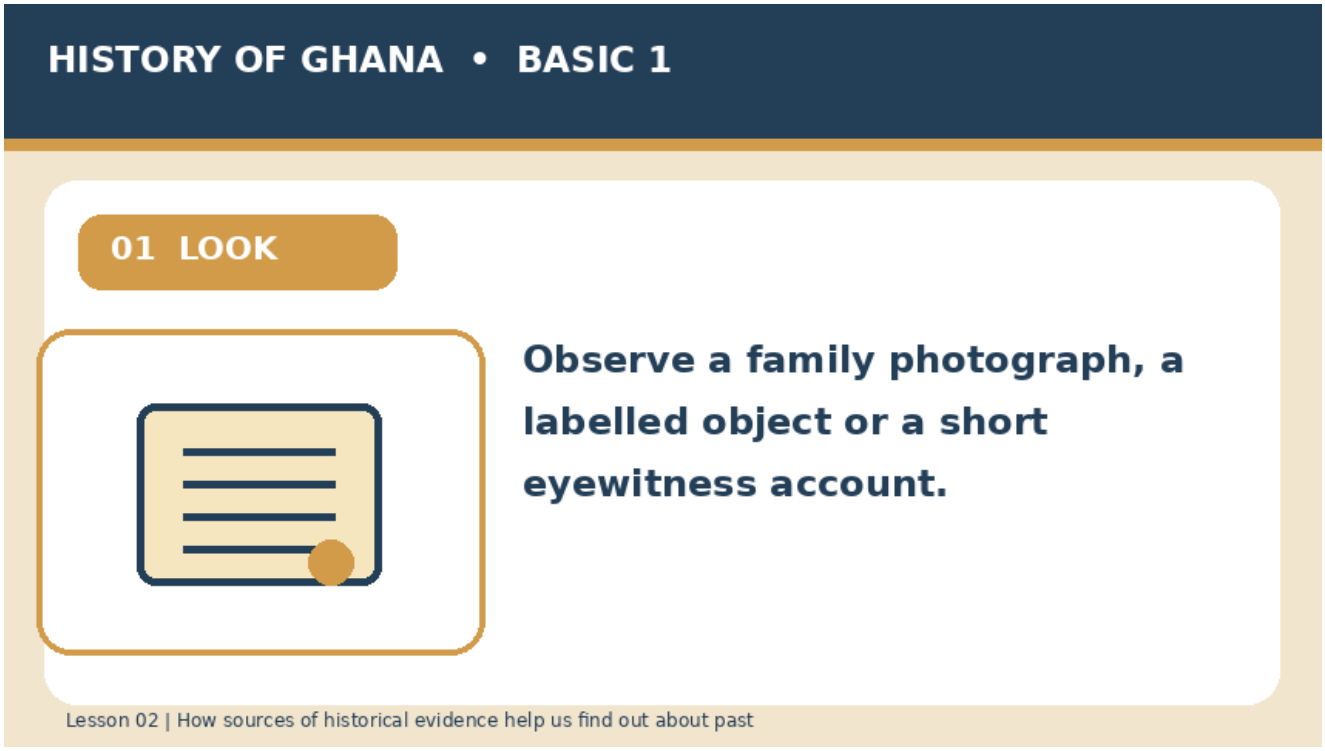

B. Use the topic to mislead others

C. Apply the lesson about explain that history deals with past human activities to a suitable real-life situation.

D. Claim expertise without trying the skill

LESSON 02: How sources of historical evidence help us find out about past - Describe

Goal: Describe how sources of historical evidence help us find out about past human activities

B. only a future space colony

C. an unrelated imagined city

D. family and local community memories

5. [Play] Explore which Europeans came to Ghana - Describe: What should learners produce or demonstrate?

A. a response that does not show the lesson skill

B. an unrelated picture with no explanation

C. a short, evidence-supported historical explanation

D. an unsupported claim with no classroom practice

6. [Challenge] Explore which Europeans came to Ghana - Describe: Which action comes after the opening step?

A. Change to an unrelated lesson immediately

B. Only watch others without trying

C. Skip to marking before learning

D. Ask a question about: Explore which Europeans came to Ghana.

7. [Challenge] Explore which Europeans came to Ghana - Describe: Which practice completes the three lesson stages?

A. Leave the task unfinished without explaining

B. Give a guess without trying the activity

C. Stop after reading the title

D. Compare what two sources reveal about the period of European contact.

8. [Challenge] Explore which Europeans came to Ghana - Describe: What counts as good evidence of learning here?

A. an opinion without observation or practice

B. an unrelated example that does not test the skill

C. a random answer with no supporting detail

D. two pieces of evidence

9. [Challenge] Explore which Europeans came to Ghana - Describe: Which safety or respect rule fits this lesson?

A. Ignore the teacher’s safety instructions.

B. Take unnecessary risks to finish first.

C. Do the activity without considering other people.

Try this: Ask who created the source, when it was made and what it can tell us.

Show your learning: a question-and-evidence chart. Compare two sources; say how you know which details are reliable.

LESSON 18: Play + Challenge

Circle one answer for each question. Play = 1–5; Challenge = 6–15.

1. [Play] How sources of historical evidence help us find out about past - Practise: What is this lesson mainly about?

A. Treat every account as equally reliable without checking

B. Describe how sources of historical evidence help us find out about past human activities

C. Discuss an unrelated modern topic without evidence

D. Ignore historical sources and decide from a guess

2. [Play] How sources of historical evidence help us find out about past - Practise: What useful learning material or support is listed?

A. guesses written without any source

B. A family photograph, a labelled object or a short eyewitness account.

C. only unsupported rumours without checking

D. an unrelated fictional story presented as a historical record

3. [Play] How sources of historical evidence help us find out about past - Practise: Which action should come first?

A. Observe a family photograph, a labelled object or a short eyewitness account.

B. Ignore the main task and do something unrelated.

C. Skip all practice and guess the result.

D. Finish before looking at the instructions.

4. [Play] How sources of historical evidence help us find out about past - Practise: Which setting does this grade use?

A. a topic unrelated to the current class

B. an unrelated imagined city

C. only a future space colony

D. family and local community memories

5. [Play] How sources of historical evidence help us find out about past - Practise: What should learners produce or demonstrate?

A. an unrelated picture with no explanation

B. a response that does not show the lesson skill

C. a short, evidence-supported historical explanation

D. an unsupported claim with no classroom practice

6. [Challenge] How sources of historical evidence help us find out about past - Practise: Which action comes after the opening step?

A. Skip to marking before learning

B. Change to an unrelated lesson immediately

C. Ask a question about: Describe how sources of historical evidence help us find out about past human activities.

D. Only watch others without trying

7. [Challenge] How sources of historical evidence help us find out about past - Practise: Which practice completes the three lesson stages?

A. Ask who created the source, when it was made and what it can tell us.

B. Leave the task unfinished without explaining

C. Stop after reading the title

D. Give a guess without trying the activity

8. [Challenge] How sources of historical evidence help us find out about past - Practise: What counts as good evidence of learning here?

A. an opinion without observation or practice

B. a random answer with no supporting detail

C. an unrelated example that does not test the skill

D. a question-and-evidence chart

9. [Challenge] How sources of historical evidence help us find out about past - Practise: Which safety or respect rule fits this lesson?

A. Take unnecessary risks to finish first.

B. Do the activity without considering other people.

C. Handle historical artefacts carefully; respect different communities and distinguish facts from guesses.

D. Ignore the teacher’s safety instructions.

10. [Challenge] How sources of historical evidence help us find out about past - Practise: Which classroom activity helps apply the lesson?

A. Avoid the stated task and its materials

B. Complete a different lesson instead

C. Ask who created the source, when it was made and what it can tell us.

D. Copy another learner’s response without trying

11. [Challenge] How sources of historical evidence help us find out about past - Practise: Which explanation best supports this lesson?

A. History is the study of past human activities. We ask questions, examine evidence and compare accounts before drawing conclusions.

B. Learning means only guessing and never checking

C. The topic can be completed without observing or practising

D. The lesson has no connection to life or skills

12. [Challenge] How sources of historical evidence help us find out about past - Practise: What should a partner help you check?

A. Whether you can ignore the agreed task

B. Whether you can avoid answering questions

C. Whether you can finish without showing your work

D. Whether your work demonstrates a question-and-evidence chart.

13. [Challenge] How sources of historical evidence help us find out about past - Practise: Which follow-up deepens the learning?

A. Make up results instead of practising

B. Repeat the same error without checking feedback

C. Stop immediately without reflection

D. Compare two sources; say how you know which details are reliable.

14. [Challenge] How sources of historical evidence help us find out about past - Practise: How should a learner improve after feedback?

A. Change answers randomly without a reason

B. Skip a difficult part without asking for help

C. Ignore all comments and leave the task incomplete

D. Revisit the steps and strengthen a question-and-evidence chart.

15. [Challenge] How sources of historical evidence help us find out about past - Practise: Which choice would show responsible use of today’s skill?

A. Claim expertise without trying the skill

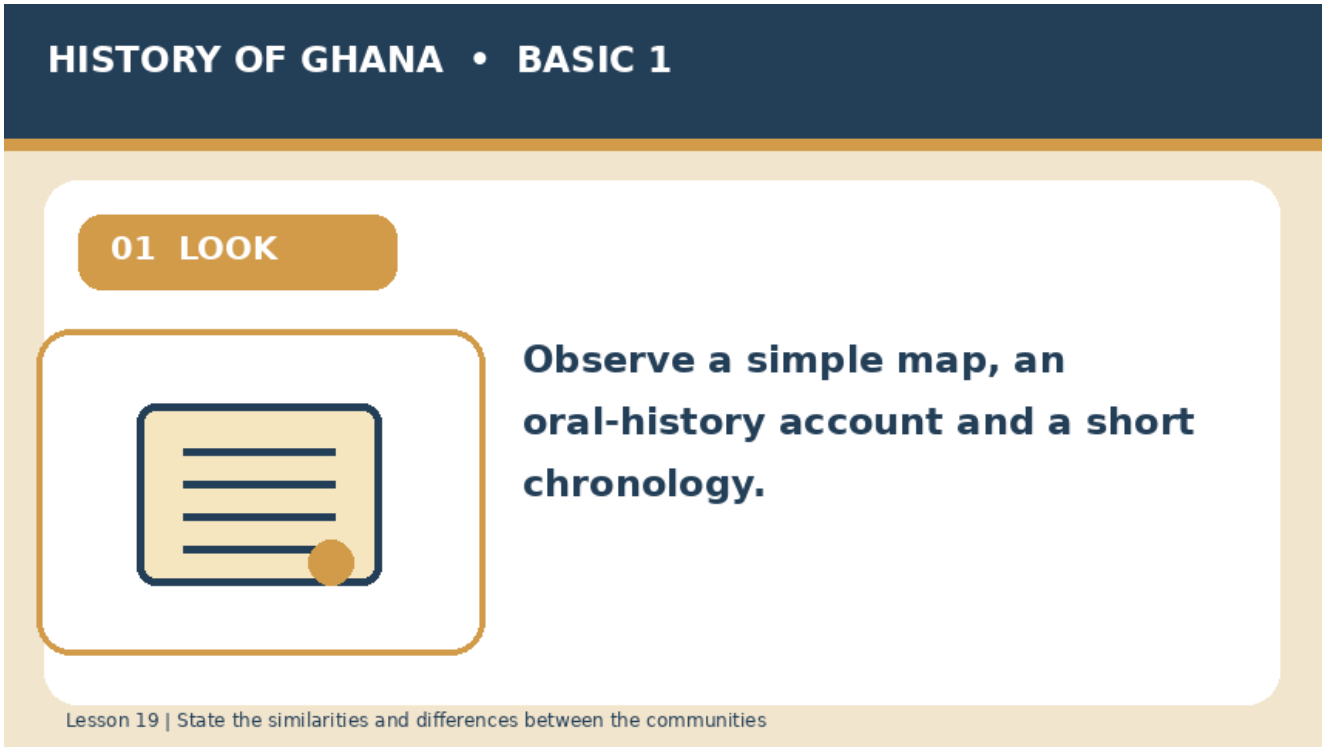

B. Apply the lesson about describe how sources of historical evidence help us find out about past human activities to a suitable real-life situation.

C. Avoid explaining how the skill could be used

D. Use the topic to mislead others

LESSON 19: State the similarities and differences between the communities where - Apply

Goal: State the similarities and differences between the communities where

Learn it

Communities and states developed over time for different reasons. Oral traditions, objects and written accounts may reveal different parts of their histories.

Useful material: A simple map, an oral-history account and a short chronology.

Do it in three steps

1. Observe a simple map, an oral-history account and a short chronology.

2. Ask a question about: State the similarities and differences between the communities where.

3. Explain one possible cause of change and identify the evidence needed to check it.

Safety / respect: Handle historical artefacts carefully; respect different communities and distinguish facts from guesses.

Try this: Explain one possible cause of change and identify the evidence needed to check it.

Show your learning: a cause-and-effect chart. Compare two sources; say how you know which details are reliable.
