LESSON 01: How history defines our identity - Discover

Goal: Explain how history defines our identity

Learn it

History is the study of past human activities. We ask questions, examine evidence and compare accounts before drawing conclusions.

Useful material: A family photograph, a labelled object or a short eyewitness account.

Do it in three steps

1. Observe a family photograph, a labelled object or a short eyewitness account.

2. Ask a question about: Explain how history defines our identity.

3. Ask who created the source, when it was made and what it can tell us.

Safety / respect: Handle historical artefacts carefully; respect different communities and distinguish facts from guesses.

Try this: Ask who created the source, when it was made and what it can tell us.

Show your learning: a question-and-evidence chart. Compare two sources; say how you know which details are reliable.

LESSON 01: Play + Challenge

Circle one answer for each question. Play = 1–5; Challenge = 6–15.

1. [Play] How history defines our identity - Discover: What is this lesson mainly about?

A. Treat every account as equally reliable without checking

B. Ignore historical sources and decide from a guess

C. Discuss an unrelated modern topic without evidence

D. Explain how history defines our identity

2. [Play] How history defines our identity - Discover: What useful learning material or support is listed?

A. A family photograph, a labelled object or a short eyewitness account.

B. guesses written without any source

C. an unrelated fictional story presented as a historical record

D. only unsupported rumours without checking

3. [Play] How history defines our identity - Discover: Which action should come first?

A. Ignore the main task and do something unrelated.

B. Observe a family photograph, a labelled object or a short eyewitness account.

D. Skip all practice and guess the result.

4. [Play] How history defines our identity - Discover: Which setting does this grade use?

A. an unrelated imagined city

B. only a future space colony

C. a topic unrelated to the current class

D. major Ghanaian kingdoms, historical sites and colonial encounters

5. [Play] How history defines our identity - Discover: What should learners produce or demonstrate?

A. an unrelated picture with no explanation

B. an unsupported claim with no classroom practice

C. a response that does not show the lesson skill

D. a short, evidence-supported historical explanation

6. [Challenge] How history defines our identity - Discover: Which action comes after the opening step?

A. Only watch others without trying

B. Skip to marking before learning

C. Change to an unrelated lesson immediately

D. Ask a question about: Explain how history defines our identity.

7. [Challenge] How history defines our identity - Discover: Which practice completes the three lesson stages?

A. Stop after reading the title

B. Ask who created the source, when it was made and what it can tell us.

C. Leave the task unfinished without explaining

D. Give a guess without trying the activity

8. [Challenge] How history defines our identity - Discover: What counts as good evidence of learning here?

A. an opinion without observation or practice

B. a random answer with no supporting detail

C. a question-and-evidence chart

D. an unrelated example that does not test the skill

9. [Challenge] How history defines our identity - Discover: Which safety or respect rule fits this lesson?

A. Take unnecessary risks to finish first.

B. Ignore the teacher’s safety instructions.

C. Do the activity without considering other people.

D. Handle historical artefacts carefully; respect different communities and distinguish facts from guesses.

10. [Challenge] How history defines our identity - Discover: Which classroom activity helps apply the lesson?

A. Copy another learner’s response without trying

B. Ask who created the source, when it was made and what it can tell us.

C. Complete a different lesson instead

D. Avoid the stated task and its materials

11. [Challenge] How history defines our identity - Discover: Which explanation best supports this lesson?

A. The topic can be completed without observing or practising

B. History is the study of past human activities. We ask questions, examine evidence and compare accounts before drawing conclusions.

C. Learning means only guessing and never checking

D. The lesson has no connection to life or skills

12. [Challenge] How history defines our identity - Discover: What should a partner help you check?

A. Whether you can finish without showing your work

B. Whether you can ignore the agreed task

C. Whether you can avoid answering questions

D. Whether your work demonstrates a question-and-evidence chart.

13. [Challenge] How history defines our identity - Discover: Which follow-up deepens the learning?

A. Compare two sources; say how you know which details are reliable.

B. Make up results instead of practising

C. Repeat the same error without checking feedback

D. Stop immediately without reflection

14. [Challenge] How history defines our identity - Discover: How should a learner improve after feedback?

A. Ignore all comments and leave the task incomplete

B. Skip a difficult part without asking for help

C. Revisit the steps and strengthen a question-and-evidence chart.

D. Change answers randomly without a reason

15. [Challenge] How history defines our identity - Discover: Which choice would show responsible use of today’s skill?

A. Claim expertise without trying the skill

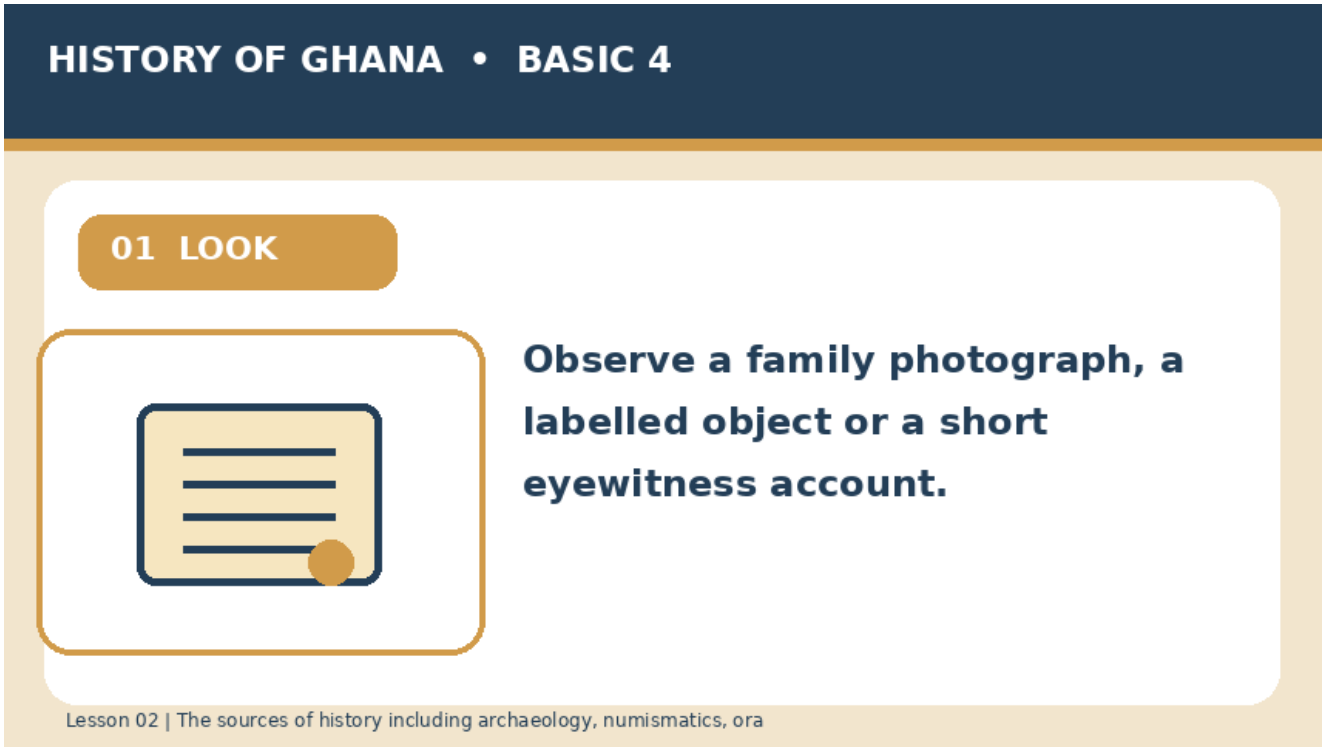

B. Use the topic to mislead others

C. Apply the lesson about explain how history defines our identity to a suitable real-life situation.

D. Avoid explaining how the skill could be used

LESSON 12: How history defines our identity - Describe

Goal: Explain how history defines our identity

Learn it

History is the study of past human activities. We ask questions, examine evidence and compare accounts before drawing conclusions.

Useful material: A family photograph, a labelled object or a short eyewitness account.

Do it in three steps

1. Observe a family photograph, a labelled object or a short eyewitness account.

2. Ask a question about: Explain how history defines our identity.

3. Ask who created the source, when it was made and what it can tell us.

Safety / respect: Handle historical artefacts carefully; respect different communities and distinguish facts from guesses.

Try this: Ask who created the source, when it was made and what it can tell us.

Show your learning: a question-and-evidence chart. Compare two sources; say how you know which details are reliable.

LESSON 12: Play + Challenge

Circle one answer for each question. Play = 1–5; Challenge = 6–15.

1. [Play] How history defines our identity - Describe: What is this lesson mainly about?

A. Ignore historical sources and decide from a guess

B. Explain how history defines our identity

C. Treat every account as equally reliable without checking

D. Discuss an unrelated modern topic without evidence

2. [Play] How history defines our identity - Describe: What useful learning material or support is listed?

A. A family photograph, a labelled object or a short eyewitness account.

B. guesses written without any source

C. only unsupported rumours without checking

D. an unrelated fictional story presented as a historical record

3. [Play] How history defines our identity - Describe: Which action should come first?

A. Skip all practice and guess the result.

B. Ignore the main task and do something unrelated.

C. Observe a family photograph, a labelled object or a short eyewitness account.

D. Finish before looking at the instructions.

4. [Play] How history defines our identity - Describe: Which setting does this grade use?

A. an unrelated imagined city

B. major Ghanaian kingdoms, historical sites and colonial encounters

C. a topic unrelated to the current class

D. only a future space colony

5. [Play] How history defines our identity - Describe: What should learners produce or demonstrate?

A. an unrelated picture with no explanation

B. an unsupported claim with no classroom practice

C. a response that does not show the lesson skill

D. a short, evidence-supported historical explanation

6. [Challenge] How history defines our identity - Describe: Which action comes after the opening step?

A. Skip to marking before learning

B. Only watch others without trying

C. Ask a question about: Explain how history defines our identity.

D. Change to an unrelated lesson immediately

7. [Challenge] How history defines our identity - Describe: Which practice completes the three lesson stages?

A. Stop after reading the title

B. Give a guess without trying the activity

C. Ask who created the source, when it was made and what it can tell us.

D. Leave the task unfinished without explaining

8. [Challenge] How history defines our identity - Describe: What counts as good evidence of learning here?

A. a random answer with no supporting detail

B. a question-and-evidence chart

C. an opinion without observation or practice

D. an unrelated example that does not test the skill

9. [Challenge] How history defines our identity - Describe: Which safety or respect rule fits this lesson?

A. Ignore the teacher’s safety instructions.

B. Handle historical artefacts carefully; respect different communities and distinguish facts from guesses.

C. Do the activity without considering other people.

D. Take unnecessary risks to finish first.

10. [Challenge] How history defines our identity - Describe: Which classroom activity helps apply the lesson?

A. Copy another learner’s response without trying

B. Avoid the stated task and its materials

C. Ask who created the source, when it was made and what it can tell us.

D. Complete a different lesson instead

11. [Challenge] How history defines our identity - Describe: Which explanation best supports this lesson?

A. Learning means only guessing and never checking

B. The lesson has no connection to life or skills

C. The topic can be completed without observing or practising

D. History is the study of past human activities. We ask questions, examine evidence and compare accounts before drawing conclusions.

12. [Challenge] How history defines our identity - Describe: What should a partner help you check?

A. Whether you can avoid answering questions

B. Whether your work demonstrates a question-and-evidence chart.

C. Whether you can finish without showing your work

D. Whether you can ignore the agreed task

13. [Challenge] How history defines our identity - Describe: Which follow-up deepens the learning?

A. Make up results instead of practising

B. Repeat the same error without checking feedback

C. Stop immediately without reflection

D. Compare two sources; say how you know which details are reliable.

14. [Challenge] How history defines our identity - Describe: How should a learner improve after feedback?
